

PRACTICE PROFILE

WHY US?

We love old buildings. We believe in their emotional power and cultural relevance.

We believe in conservation, as in the mindful use of finite resources. We believe this is the essence of sustainability.

We believe in cities. We are committed to London as our home. We are excited by the possibilities that lie ahead and what we can do to make London better.

We believe in regeneration, and the value that comes from collective aspiration, effort and investment.

We believe in people. People regenerate cities.

We do it to make the world better, to make lives better.

We do it for financial security, for a sound investment, for a legacy, and for fun.

What better prize is there than a beautiful home, a beautiful office, a beautiful street, a great café, a great neighbourhood, a beautiful city.

We believe in the transformative power of our actions. We believe that if we do it right, it will benefit everyone, forever.

Through careful action we create sustainable assets that build cultural capital and financial reward.

Making the city better, one building at a time.

WHAT OUR CLIENTS SAY

Robert is very talented in his creative vision both in terms of use of space and aesthetic appeal.

He is exceptionally diligent and strives to get the best overall finish while working within practical parameters of budget. He is also an exceptionally nice guy and very easy to work with.

St. George's Terrace, NW1

Ms O. Scanlon

COO, Orchard Global Asset Management

“

The house is cool, restful and almost exactly what we were looking for at the outset. We are happy clients and would definitely recommend Robert to others.

Regent's Park Terrace, NW1

Mr C. Walklin

GCOO, Standard Life

We chose Robert for our project for two reasons: 1) he listened to our needs and was empathetic to them; 2) the standard of his documents and communication was very professional.

Both of these were borne out during the project, where he demonstrated design flair and capability in managing the relationship with the contractors.

Thank you for considering Robert Rhodes Architecture + Interiors. We are delighted to be considered for your project.

We are an award winning architecture and interior design studio based in central London, driven by our love of old buildings, dedicated to creating exceptional homes.

We have over 15 years' experience renovating historic homes in London. Our projects are connected by the common thread of care, reverence, and understanding of the importance of making a home as individual as each client.

We believe that beauty, utility, practicality, and longevity are the essential cornerstones of a successful renovation. Our projects aim to be timeless; to appear as though they have always been that way.

We provide our clients the reassurance and security of knowing how to get things done. We have an extensive and trusted network of contractors, consultants, and specialists who contribute significantly to the individual success of each project.

We believe that the process of making a home should be fun; that renovating a home is a deeply and truly good thing to do.

We look forward to working with you on your project.

Thank you!
